Yale and Harvard Athletes Overwhelm Oxford-Cambridge Team in International Meet

Gourdin Sets World's Record Of Over 25 Feet in Broad Jump

Versatile Negro Breaks 20-Year-Old Mark by 31/4 Inches After Winning 100-Yd. Dash; Meet Records Tumble as Americans Take 8 of 10 Events

By Jack Masters

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 23 .- Athletes from Yale and Harvard sterally swamped the Oxford-Cambridge team in the Stadium here this afternoon, taking first places in eight of the ten events contested. But even this achievement was overshadowed by the marvelous performance of Ned Gourdin, of Harvard, who established a new world's record in

The negro youth from Jacksonville, Fla., who came into prominence en he approached the intercollegiate mark a few months ago, leaped 5 feet 3 inches on his first try. The best previous leap of any man was of feet 11% inches, made by Pat O'Connor, of Ireland, in England, in 1901.

The preparatory signal for the Victories had not sounded and the Buddy was warned to keep out of the restricted area until the class was called. Some facetious repartee passed between the Committee Boat and the Buddy's crew and the result was that the fast little craft was told that her time would not be taken, which amounted virtually to disqualification. J. M. Curtis's Mongolia finished second and was declared the winner.
